To the Reader.

These ensuing pieces of the most eminent Artists that are exposed to view, and will be to sale by Auction, described in the ensuing Catalogue, are so truly valuable for the excellency of their Painting; and as they are the Genuine productions of those great Masters whose Names they bear; that I may, without vanity challenge the Curiosi of the Age, and the Virtuosi of the Town, to a Critical Inspection and an Impartial Censure of them. Paintings, with the difference of good and bad, genuine or spurious, cannot be judged of exactly, without comparing Picture with Picture, Pencil with Pencil; since every ordinary piece appears inviting to the less knowing, that may be justly censured by the experienced in this noble Art. It must be acknowledged, that the most competent Judges of the most celebrated Paintings, generally speaking, are those persons that have been conversant with them, and sometimes possessors of the best pieces of the most Illustrious Masters abroad, in this unparallell'd Science. The sole reason of this Sale, is to gratify the whole race of the Curious, especially the knowing and skilful, with the sight, and to recommend to their choice, Painting and curious Prints of the fam'd Masters, which have a real and intrinsick Excellency in them, that are accompanied with a real loveliness, and very powerful Charms, and are as instructive to the Mind, as Ornamental to the places where they hang.

I also upon second thoughts, have contrived to entertain the Lovers of that Celestial Art of Singing, in a Collection of the choicest Vocal and Instrumental Musick-Books Prick'd and Printed, which being the first Essay of this nature, and in this way, will, I hope, receive an Incouragement from the Masters and Professors, and others that are admirers of it, by their presence and suitable bidding; and that nothing be wanting that may be grateful to the Eye or Ear, the Buyers shall be diverted with Instrumental Musick in the close of the Sale.

In a word, whatever disappointment I may meet withal in this undertaking, I shall relieve my self with this one single thought, that I am not the first, nor shall be the last that have been defeated in the honest measures that I have taken, to oblige the Gentler part of Mankind.
